THE MUNICIPALITY

I.

Mondorf-les-Bains is a charming town of more than 5.000 inhabitants located close to the Luxembourg Moselle.

It is home to the only casino and spa in the Grand-Duchy and benefits from all the advantages of a large city :

- Everything within walking distance,
- Easily accessible by public transport,
- Numerous leisure and relaxation activities,
- Captivating architecture and heritage,
- A wide range of shops,
- A large choice of hotels and restaurants

In short, an ideal place to relax and recharge your batteries.

THE THREE VILLAGES

Mondorf-les-Bains, a unique place.

The Municipality of Mondorf-les-Bains is located in the south-east of the Grand- Duchy of Luxembourg, close to France and Germany. The river Gander ("Albaach"), crossing the spa park, forms the natural border between Mondorf-les-Bains (L) and Mondorff (F).

It consists of three villages :

Mondorf-les-Bains

Ellange

Altwies

MONDORF-LES-BAINS

Offering leisure and entertainment as well as health care and fitness, Mondorf-les-Bains is worth visiting. Via the CASINO 2OOO, an internationally renowned attraction with some 500.000 visitors per year, the MONDORF Domaine Thermal, an equally renowned establishment with its modern and quality facilities or through more than 100 hectares of greenery (woods, public squares, parks and gardens), you will find, in Mondorf-les-Bains, the breath of fresh air you deserve, away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life.

ELLANGE

The charming rural village of Ellange is ideal for long walks in the heart of the woods while offering nature lovers a panoramic view of its natural landscape.

A short distance away is Ellange-Gare, where the old "Janglisbunn" railway line used to run. It gave its name to the "Jangeli" cycle path.

ALTWIES

Altwies is a charming village with attractive cultural sites such as the Castel, a rocky outcrop crowned by a chapel on the French bank of the Gander, the former Hôtel de Paris where Victor Hugo stayed in 1871 (from 23/08 to 23/09), as well as the post office which he regularly visited at the time, now the Tavern which bears his name.

Its serene atmosphere guarantees you beautiful excursions along the well-trodden paths to Mondorf-les-Bains in complete peace of mind.

HISTORY

The first inhabitants of Mondorf-les-Bains were Celts. The Roman presence began in 65 BC. The Chapel of Saint-Sauveur, known as the "Chapelle du Castel", was built on Celtic fortifications to protect the Metz-Trier road. Its access path is marked by steles representing the seven Sorrows of the Virgin Mary.

Situated at the crossroads between Germany and France, Mondorf has been plundered, burned and rebuilt many times. The church of Saint-Michel, built in 1065, was rebuilt four times, the last time in 1764.

The origin of the name Mondorf-les-Bains goes back to the Carolingian dynasty, i.e. Frankish kings. Charlemagne had a niece called "Muomina", who donated all her possessions to the abbey of Echternach. Among these possessions was the small village, which thus took the name of "Muomendorph". Charlemagne married Hildegarde de Thionville. As a result, he was forced to travel frequently between Thionville and his small capital of Aachen, and had a residence ("Pfalz") built in Mondorf, which served as a relay.

A border village between France and Luxembourg, the toponymy of Mondorf has varied over time : Muomundorf (960), Mamendorf (1030), Muomendorph (1060), Mumendorf (1161), Mundorf (1572), Mondorf (1681), Mendorf (17th century), Mondorf (1793), Mondorff (1801).

The Treaty of Versailles of 1769 fixed the current border, splitting the parish of Mondorff in two. The Luxembourg part kept the name of Mondorff until 1872, date of the creation of the first post office in the bathing village. Following the delivery of a postmark, which by mistake of interpretation, only presented one final "f" at the end of Mondorf, the Luxembourgish part of the twin locality adopted the new name in 1878, with the addition: -les-Bains ("les Bains" meaning "bath" (Mondorf-les Bains in Luxembourgish : Munneref)

The Dutch domination in the 19th century and other constraints were to change the destiny of the village, which had been an agricultural and wine-producing village. Because of the Dutch monopoly and the exorbitant taxes on salt, people started to search for salt in Luxembourg. In Mondorf there was a small stream with slightly salty water.

1841, a key date in the history of our beautiful city, marks the beginning of a long series of transformations, renovations, demolitions and constructions.

Despite numerous setbacks, Mondorf-les-Bains has never stopped to do everything possible to become what it is today, a unique destination.

1841 : start of drilling, by Karl Gotthelf Kind, who created the first thermal spring (for rock salt research) on the initiative of the notary Ledure.

HOME OF WORLD FAMOUS ATHLETES

John Grün

In the last years of the 19th century, Mondorf-les-Bains was proud to have seen the birth of the strongest man in the world on August 27th, 1868 : John Grün.

His life would undoubtedly have passed peacefully in his hometown, despite his prodigious muscular strength, if the taste for adventure had not prompted the young teenager to emigrate in 1889 in the United States, where he enjoyed a remarkable career and notoriety. From a sporting point of view, John Grün is the first Luxembourger, before many others, who has done honor abroad to his small Luxembourgish homeland and, as such, his memory deserves to be preserved.

This is recalled by two monuments. An ancient one in the street that bears his name (located two steps from his birthhouse which is still in good condition today) as well as a more recent one next door to town hall.

Some of its equipment (weights, dumbbells, cast iron blocks, etc.) is on display at the Sportscenter Roll Delles of Mondorf-les-Bains.

Jeff Strasser

Jeff Strasser, born in 1974, has made a fairly luxembourgish career in French and German first division as one of the rare successful professional footballers from Luxembourg. At the age of 15, he entered the Lycée Robert Schuman in Metz in the sports-studies section, to be trained at FC Metz, with which he played 78 matches in Ligue 1. Ten years later, he played for three seasons at FC Kaiserslautern. In 2002, he joined Borussia Mönchengladbach for 3 years. He played 194 matches in the Bundesliga. In 2006, he returned to France to RC Strasbourg then to FC Metz. In 2009, he signed at the club of the Grashoppers Zurich. He played 98 games for the national team and scored 7 goals. He returned to live in his native village of Mondorf-les-Bains and passed his professional coaching license in Germany (UEFA PRO Licence). Jeff is still one of the sports ambassadors of Mondorf-les-Bains.

Best Luxembourg sportsman in 1999 and 2001.

The Schleck Brothers

After Jeff, two sportsmen were born who where to prove to be two legends of cycling : Fränk & Andy SCHLECK born respectively in 1980 and 1985.
